Conditions

Emporium Vacation Club informs all visitors and users of this site that they are hereby bound by the terms and conditions established below. This site is subject to applicable provisions of Mexican Law.

Privacy Policies

Emporium Vacation Club is committed to guaranteeing the confidentiality of online services.

Collection and Use of Information

In some cases, the Emporium Vacation Club website collects personal information from users who contact us through our contact form. This information allows us to provide follow-up on requests from our users.

Emporium Vacation Club uses said information for two purposes:

1. To respond to your inquiries regarding our products or services and/or
2. To be able to notify you about new products and other promotions.

Emporium Vacation Club shall request personal information from users when deemed appropriate and necessary; users freely and voluntarily determine if they wish to provide the required personal information in the understanding that if the user chooses to not provide obligatory information, said user shall not be able to access the services or acquire the products for which said information is required. Nevertheless, said user shall continue to have access to the services that don't require this information.

Sharing and Disclosure of Information.

Emporium Vacation Club shall not, for any reason, sell or lease the users' personal information.

Emporium Vacation Club may disclose users' information without authorization from the same whenever required by law and/or a competent authority or whenever it deems that said disclosure is necessary to: I. comply with legal requirements; II. fulfill the user agreement; III. respond to claims that involve any content that undermines the rights of third parties; IV. protect the rights, property, or security of Emporium Vacation Club or that of its users or the public in general.
